

CHARGE OF ARSON FACES MERCHANTS

Two Lynchburg Men Are Placed
Under Arrest by State Insurance
Commissioner

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
LYNCHBURG, VA., February 12.—Charles A. Dowdy, formerly merchant at 1529 Garfield Avenue, and for several years special officer and constable in Brookville District, Campbell county, and John E. Creasy, who operates a grocery store on Cotton Hill, were arrested this morning on the charge of arson. The arrests were made under warrants sworn out last night by Colonel Joseph Button, State Insurance Commissioner. The men were found at their homes early this morning by Policemen Irvin, O'Donnell, Mosby and Short.

It will be recalled that the building at 1529 Garfield Avenue, which was a store and dwelling combined, was damaged by fire on the morning of December 16 last. The alarm was telephoned to the fire department, and the firemen reached there after the long run in time to prevent any great damage. On the morning of December 22, just six days later, the building was practically consumed. The department not being notified of this blaze until the house was almost ready to fall in.

Everything at the time of both fires indicated that the blazes were kindled by an incendiary, and the authorities of the fire department so stated at the time. The matter was brought to the attention of the State Insurance Bureau after a conference between the heads of the fire and police departments, and Detective O. B. Lee, of Richmond, was detailed upon the case. He came here five weeks ago, and yesterday Commissioner Button joined him, and after a conference the warrants were sworn out.

FIVE MORE CONVICTIONS.

All Accused of Running Blind Ticks
Will Take Appeal.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
DANVILLE, VA., February 12.—There were five more convictions today in the Mayor's Court for illicit traffic in liquors, making nine convictions in all since the sensational raids of last Saturday night, when the police stretched out a drag-net through the city. In every case the accused noted appeals from the Mayor's decision, and will carry the cases before the Corporation Court. The evidence upon which all of the convictions have been secured was furnished by three detectives, who have been in the city for some time, and who were secured through the influence of the Order League. Few of the defendants introduced evidence in their own behalf, holding back their ammunition for the higher court.

Those convicted to-day are Wiley Lynch, Lewis Robinson, Andrew Coppidge, Jerry K. Mann and Walker Gilchrist, all of whom were white men. George Sanford was acquitted, and the cases against E. L. Candad, Ernest Bowles and Charles Daley, who aided in conducting other blind ticks, were dismissed.

TAKEING TESTIMONY.

Scene of Saunders-Parsons Contest
Shifts to Martinsville.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
MARTINSVILLE, VA., February 12.—The taking of testimony in the Parsons-Saunders contest was begun here to-day. Eleven of fifteen registrars of Henry county were examined by Judge Taylor for the purpose of the contest, to show that certain names on the poll books from the various precincts were not on the registration books. They failed in this Parsons' attack, and seemed inclined to make a point of the fact that some registrars failed to post lists of newly registered voters and to furnish same to the county clerk as required by statute. Judge Saunders is represented by Messrs. Gravelly and Carter. Mr. Peyton is representing Parsons.

Boards of Health Active Against Disease

The Boards of Health throughout the country are daily warning the public against the danger of infectious and contagious diseases. They are teaching the doctrine of prevention. They are telling them that cleanliness prevents disease, and that cleanliness means disinfection. If you will always add a non-poisonous Germicide like C. N. Disinfectant to your cleaning water, you will keep your house in a healthful condition and prevent disease germs from breeding.

Four daily a little C. N. down the toilets and drain pipes and into the sinks, and sprinkle it systematically around the cellar and all damp places. Heed the warning early before it is too late and protect the lives of your family by regular disinfection.

News of Petersburg

(Times-Dispatch Bureau,
109 North Ryancourt Street,
Petersburg, Va., February 12.)
The case of E. L. DeJarnette was dismissed in the Police Court this morning. Mr. DeJarnette had for some time been greatly worried by trespassers on his property in the rear of Old Street, near the electric railway bridge. At times the house, which was used for storage purposes, was broken into and property of value stolen. For the protection of the property he set a trap gun, loaded with birdshot, in the house, more to frighten than to injure trespassers, and carefully refrained the gun so that it could be fired only from one point. On the 4th of January Forrest Aiken, a white boy about thirteen years old, while playing with a companion, went on the premises and attempted to enter the house through a window. He had gotten one leg through the window, and was trying to unlatch the door, when he caused the gun to be discharged, the load entering the calf of his right leg and inflicting a severe flesh wound. The boy thought he had been shot by some one in the building, and so told those who came to his aid. He was taken to the hospital, where his condition seemed to improve, but in the latter part of January symptoms of lockjaw developed, and he finally died of tetanus.

Mr. DeJarnette appeared in court this morning with his counsel, Bernard Mann, to answer the charge of being responsible for the boy's death, and after hearing the evidence the case was briefly argued. Commonwealth's Attorney Mann frankly stated his doubt that the defendant could be held criminally responsible under the circumstances, and the defendant's counsel quoted the law and opinions to show that in cases where a person is shot or killed by a trap gun set for protection while attempting to commit a serious crime or a felony the responsibility of his wounding or death rests upon himself. The court took this view of the case and dismissed it.

NORFOLK AROUSED BY LOCAL OPTION

"Wets" Say They Would Like to Have It Settled Within Six Months.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NORFOLK, VA., February 12.—The liquor and business interests of Norfolk are stirred over the promised local option election that the anti-saloonists say they are going to precipitate in this city. No intimation as to when it will be called has yet been given. Although not wishing such a contest, if it has to come, the preference of the "wets" is that it be settled within the next six months. They prefer to have no fears of the result at the polls, boldly predicting that the city will go wet by a good majority.

A report is to the effect that the election, so far as Norfolk is concerned, will be postponed until the matter is settled in Portsmouth and Norfolk county, it being pointed out that until it is known definitely that these places will banish liquor, many favoring prohibition would not vote for the city to go dry, feeling that it would be ineffective with the city across the river and the surrounding county with open saloons.

The following statement was given to the press for publication: "The Old Dominion Chapter, U. D. C., of Lynchburg, desires to make it a matter of record that it is in full sympathy with the chapter action in the election taken regarding the award given Miss Boyson's essay, which assails our Lee and the South generally, and deplores the action of the committee having the matter in charge."

NORTH CAROLINA HONORS LINCOLN

General Assembly Adjourns as Tribute to Memory of the War President

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
RALEIGH, N. C., February 12.—The adjournment of the General Assembly to-day was in honor of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, a resolution having passed early in the day's session that the adjournment be in honor of this great statesman.

The Senate had a lively debate on the Britt bill to elect county boards of education by the people, the argument waxing hotter politically than it did earlier in the week in the House, where a similar bill was killed. It took two hours of debate for the Senate to reach a vote, with the result that the bill was killed overwhelmingly on a strictly party vote.

After debating the State fish bill for about three hours, the House came to the conclusion that it could not understand anything about it definitely enough to vote until the substitute offered by Mr. Holter, of case, could be printed and digested by each member.

The principal question now is whether the present system of taxing the nets of the counties that come under the jurisdiction of the fish commissioner shall be continued, or whether the expense shall be paid out of the State treasury, and a State tax levied on fishermen or dealers, or both, in the nature of a privilege or license tax, whether fishing is a State or a local industry. The latter proposition is embodied in the substitute, which also abolishes the oyster commission, and puts its duties upon the fish commissioner. The committee bill exempts fifteen of the fishing counties, leaving only four to pay for the protection of the fish of North Carolina, and one of the four put in a bid to come out to-day. There is a deficit of $3,000 in the State fish commission fund, which the fish commissioner did make about $51 for the State, so said Speaker Graham, who inclines strongly toward making it a State supported industry.

Representative Cotton introduced the bill for the Torrens system of registration and sale of land titles in the House. It provides that any person desiring to have a title settled may pay a certain sum into a fund to be controlled by the State, whereupon the court shall appoint a committee of lawyers to pass upon the title, after having given notice to all persons having claim upon the land to appear, and state it; and thereafter, if any further claim should be substantiated, the loss to be paid out of the fund so established. The bill is modeled much after the proposed Virginia bill.

James K. Barnes, of Winchester, was the principal opponent, and only member to cast a vote against the bill, when it was finally put through its final reading.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
HENDERSON, N. C., February 12.—E. E. Andrews, of Asheville, State organizer of the Retail Merchants' Association, has succeeded in organizing an association in Henderson under the State charter. The organization started with fifteen charter members. The following officers of the organization were elected at the last meeting: W. H. Watkins, president; W. E. Moss, vice-president; C. F. Williams, secretary; C. G. Davis, treasurer.

MANY TEACHERS ATTEND MEETING

Renewed Enthusiasm Being Shown by Educators of Fourth District.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
EMPORIA, VA., February 12.—Never before in the history of the Teachers' Association of the Fourth Congressional District has so much interest and enthusiasm been shown as at the meeting now in session. When the sessions of to-day had ended more than 150 teachers from all sections of the district had registered, and the trains of to-morrow morning are expected to bring many more. The first session was held this morning in the Emporia Baptist Church. The time of this meeting was largely given over to a discussion of affairs of a local and general interest. Many of the teachers present took part in the discussion, making suggestions for the betterment of the schools and the improvement of teaching methods.

This evening's meeting was held in Armory Hall, and the large auditorium was taxed to its capacity. It was an appreciative audience which bestowed a hearty co-operation with the State and local educational work. Among the speakers of the evening were W. H. Heck, of the University of Virginia; Professor J. J. Lileon, of Wakefield; C. B. Bowry, president of the association, and J. S. Thomas. Each of the speakers discussed educational methods and needs in a most forceful manner. Mr. Thomas made a particularly striking address on elementary education.

The school chorus, led by Mrs. F. G. Davis and Miss Harris, was a pleasing feature of the program. The local committee, comprised of F. G. Vincent, Henry Mass and Professor D. H. Henderson, has arranged a number of attractive features for the meeting of the teachers. The meeting will come to an end to-day, two sessions being held, with the following program: "What Can the Rural School Do With Industrial Education?" Professor J. J. Lileon, of Wakefield; "What Can the Rural School Do to Further the Recommendation of the State Teachers' Association?" Professor J. H. Saunders; report from each county and county organization; business session.
